Christine Kloser ~ ATL NYC Featured Member

Christine Kloser trains entrepreneurs and leaders to write their transformational books and grow sustainable, fulfilling, soul-centered and profitable business. She is a USA Today and Wall Street Journal bestselling author, coach and award-winning publisher. Since 2004, she's trained nearly 80,000 aspiring authors and service-based business owners in 127 countries.

Many clients have become bestsellers while others have signed publishing deals, speak on stages world- wide, enjoy six- and seven-figure businesses, and appear in major media outlets like CBS, CNN, ABC, NBC, The New York Times, and TEDx. But what's more important is who they become through Christine's life-changing process. She delivers much more than a published book, or soulful business... she helps leaders fully embody their true, authentic self and bring their brilliance to the world.

Everyone Has a Gift to Give ~ From Shajen's Book

"The Gift is the essence of who we are; both the qualities of being, like Love and Joy, Peace, harmony, authenticity, spontaneity and we each have unique talents that we might call our "core genius" or unique abilities, and each of us has the responsibility to develop those Gifts and to ex- press them fully into the world. "

– Jack Canfield

Founder of the Transformational Leadership Council

Share Your Celebrations!
