Do This First

A few notes about the CoachVille Game System

A POWER UP is something that prepares you to do something in the game better. (With more power)

A GAME ACTION is when you do something in the world and share about what happened.

A BIG WIN is when you get a desired result in the world by taking action and share about what happened.

Game Action for this Play Sheet

Playing your life as a game and coaching your team are a major part of every CV program. The Game Changer element is where you share experiences of playing and coaching that have nothing specifically to do with using the World Power Method. The key is to create the pattern of sharing about your game every day with your colleagues in the program.

	Click through to your game card. Look for Game Action section – (Find the Blue Button with the Star Reacher!) Find the Game Changer badge.  You will see the game card description... Game Changer : This is what I learned today from playing and coaching....  Click on the SHARE button in the right column. A text entry window will appear. Complete this statement on your game card by sharing a few thoughts.

How to ROCK the Game Card Lifestyle

Important Information for first time players

The Game Card is what makes participating in programs at CV unique from any other learning place in the world!!! It is what makes our environment a “Community of Mastery”. YES!

Playing the game card will accelerate your path to mastery by 100 Times!

This is what you must do:

1) At the start of the game,

Go to the Power Up section of the game card to find the play sheet for each element of the game – Like the one you are reading right now. This will tell you what you need to do to earn points in the game. It will also focus your real life actions in a really powerful way.

FOCUS IS VERY IMPORTANT!

2) Go out in the world

Play your game; do awesome things, take actions and create results; or NOT.

3) At some point every day, visit your game card:

A) Go to the Game Action and Big Win Sections of your game card

B) Scroll through the game elements until you find one that you can share something about.

The elements are in strategic order of importance on the game card.

C) Share something that you did. What was the result? What did you learn?

Always share with the intention to inspire others; even when you feel like you failed or had a crappy day. (Failure can be just as inspiring as success)

D) Participate: Visit the game cards of your team mates and read a few shares and make a comment.

Important: It may seem like it takes time, but in reality the Game Card GIVES you LOADS of time.

10 Big Reasons To Rock The Game Card Lifestyle

- 1) You are insanely busy. When you give of your time – time that you don't even have - to contribute to your community, you are a hero. Your community needs heroes. It is as simple and powerful as that.
- 2) Sharing consistently activates a part of your brain that accelerates learning from successes so you get better results much faster. You also avoid repeating mistakes; which is a good thing.
- 3) Sharing about your experiences in writing reveals powerful insights that would otherwise remain hidden. In other words, you CREATE and LEARN while you are writing. For example if you are facing a challenge and you type into your game card: "The perfection of this situation is..." FLASH! Insight.
- 4) Learning from others – by reading their game cards - accelerates your path to mastery because you amplify your own learning experiences.
- 5) Sharing your insights in a way that contributes value to others in the community boosts your experience of your own value; receiving external feedback from others creates a MEGA boost of self-worth.
- 6) KNOWING that you are part of a learning community – rather than operating in isolation- boosts your overall feeling of goodwill. Feeling goodwill keeps you operating in the BIG part of your brain where you are creative, while feeling alone keeps you in the smaller/ animal part of your brain where you are reactive. "Isolation is the dream killer" – Barbara Sher
- 7) Having a place to go – your game card - to remember what you have accomplished in the recent past is a significant self-worth boost; When your self-worth is high you take more positive risks which leads to faster learning and better results.
- 8) Having a place to go to be reminded of your own objectives and see a written recap of what you have learned and accomplished recently helps you bounce back from disappointment and course correct very quickly. This minimizes or eliminates time lost due to feeling lost or down about what you are doing; which over time greatly accelerates your path to success.
- 9) Sharing in writing about your game activities at some point every day has the tremendous effect of clearing your mind. This then releases bandwidth being used to "remember" to be used for creativity. AWESOME! It frees up your mind to start the new day with a new game.
- 10) Long term awesomeness! You can come back and review these game cards at any time in the future when you need a boost and to see how far you have traveled on the path to mastery.
